

THE MARYVILLE TIMES.

The Times have Changed, and We have Changed with Them.

VOL. 11. NO. 1

MARYVILLE, TENN., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1894.

$1.00 A YEAR.

HAVE YOU HEARD THAT

J. H. Law, of Seaton, was among our holiday callers. LANES MEDICINE MOVES THE BOWELS EACH DAY. E. B. Curtis, of Cliff, gave us a pleasant call while in town last week. Mr. W. H. Law, of Springfield, called at this office while in town last week. COUGHING LEADS TO CONSUMPTION. Kemp's Balsam stops the cough at once. W. D. Williams, of Notime, was among the number of our readers who called on us last week.

This month we have to have some kind of settlement from those of our readers who are behind.

M. A. Hitch, one of our best farmers and a reader of the TIMES, was among our callers last week.

As our country exchanges did not issue a paper last week, we had no Neighborhood News this week.

H. M. Hook is one of our readers who never fails to pay in advance. He now stands credited to Jan. 1, 1895.

Esq. James Waters, of Gamble's Store, was in town the first of this week and paid in advance for the TIMES.

J. H. Walker, a young republican of near Tanig, was in town the first of last week and renewed his subscription to the TIMES.

Robt. Belt, one of our most prosperous country merchants, of Houk postoffice, was in town last week transacting business.

A number of the young people of our town engaged in one of the pleasantest socials at Mr. W. W. Lawrence's one night last week.

Rev. J. T. Sexton is conducting a meeting at Cloyd's Creek. There have been forty-three conversions in one week and many seekers.

Harvey Rennyed, one of Blount county's young and intelligent farmers, was in the city last week and paid us a cash subscription.

This office has been printing a large bill of stationary, notes, drafts, etc., for the new Bank of Blount County, which opened up at the first of this year.

Our merchants inform us that useful things were mostly the character of the Christmas presents this year, as the democratic hard times prevented buying for mere pleasure.

Mrs. Endsley and son, of near Friendsville, called at this office while in town last week. She expressed herself as well pleased with the TIMES and will still continue to be a reader.

Mr. J. F. Brittain, manager of the Coral Granite and Granite Marble and Limesuone Co., of Blount county, called and added his name to our list of readers. He also left a fine job of printing.

Mr. H. J. Salts, of Cade's Cove, stepped into this office and interviewed the TIMES while in town last week. Mr. Salts was a former student of Maryville College, but is now teaching.

Just before going to press this (Wednesday) morning we received word of the death of Old Uncle David Chandler, at his home near Rockford. He is the father of our fellow-townsmen, J. P. Chandler, and a well known citizen.

Are those of our readers who have not paid up anxious to see their names published among the delinquent list? A large number have settled up, and we are looking for the others that are behind to come up and pay what they owe us.

Lum Jones' father gave us a dollar to pay for his son's paper another year. Lum is in Gklahoma, and in this way he gets a newsy letter from his old home for less than two cents. Try sending the TIMES to some friend this year. We are sure they will appreciate it.

The new Bank of Blount County has opened up for business and solicits the patronage of the town and county. They will pay interest on time deposits and treat you fair and courteously. Give them a call when you need anything in their line. Look for their ad in next issue.

Married, at the residence of the late W. A. Tallent, near Louisville, by Rev. B. T. Sharp, Miss Florence Tallent to Mr. D. C. Byerly, of Blount county. Mr. Byerly is the son of M. L. Byerly, a prominent farmer near Louisville, Tenn. The TIMES extends congratulations.

Mr. Cal Bittle, of the firm of Bittle, Webb & Co., came in last week and renewed his father's subscription. It would pay everyone who has relatives or friends living outside of Maryville to send them the TIMES, which costs less than two cents per week. Just think of how cheap that is.

We have received a communication concerning the success of the last term of school at Eagleton, which we would gladly publish did we know the writer. No name was signed, and we cannot publish any article unless we know the name of the author. Not necessarily for publication.

During Christmas week Mr. John Kidd and Miss Nannie Matthews were united in marriage, Rev. Stone performing the ceremony. Mr. Kidd is one of the county's industrious young men, and the bride is a daughter of David Matthews, a well known farmer of our county. The TIMES extends congratulations to the young people.

Esq. A. W. Shields, of Cade's Cove, was transacting business at the county seat one day last week, and while here came in and renewed his allegiance to the TIMES. Esq. Shields is a prominent citizen of the Cove, and he thinks a majority of the voters there are for Gibson for Congress. He is a man whose judgment can be relied upon.

Thos. F. Gardener, of near Yellow Sulphur, did not forget the TIMES while getting square with the world this year. He has lately bought a nice farm and says the first of 1894 will find him out of debt. The TIMES hopes that at the beginning of 1895 the two pages of his ledger will not only balance, but have a neat surplus on the credit side.

J. R. Coulter, of Gamble's Store, called while in town last week. He says there is considerable dissatisfaction over the moving of the postoffice at that place, as it is moved three or four miles back toward the mountains, where a great many of its patrons never have any business. It is his opinion that the business of the office will be greatly decreased by the move.

We did not get out a paper last week, but that is no sign we didn't work. One who hasn't tried it does not realize the amount of work it takes to wind up a year's business of newspaper work. With over a thousand and separate accounts scattered all over the United States, and some across the frog pond, and a thousand other things to look after, Christmas week is not a very pleasant vacation to the country newspaper man.

Our readers have noticed that our college correspondent has numerous striking articles on the moon and its silvery rays, and we have been asked what he meant by them, and to save answering so many questions privately, we will answer through the columns of the TIMES. He is all right on everything but this subject, and the reason he grows so misty when writing about the moon is that when a very small boy he was sun-struck, and since then has had "Old Sol" and the queen of night so conglomerated in his mind that he thinks it was Miss Moon (moon) who did the striking. We think this much is, in justice, due our worthy correspondent.

GOSSIP AND CHAT.

Saxby's Query to Ingersoll. This beautiful song (words and music, regular sheet music size,) will be mailed to anyone enclosing 5c in stamps to D. G. Edwards, General Agent, C. H. & D. R. R., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Thankful. Mr. Editor—I am very grateful to the good people of Maryville and Blount county for the kindness shown to me in my trouble. I feel grateful to God for your benevolence to me, for the Lord certainly loves the cheerful giver. I have been sick for two weeks.—Respt. George Valentine.

Executive Committee Meeting. The Executive Committee held their meeting in the court house Monday. The election of officers resulted in the election of R. A. McClanahan, chairman, and G. L. Hannah, secretary.

The following committee was then appointed to draft rules governing the primary to be held March 3, 1894: Sam Kidd, O. P. McCammon, A. K. Harper, G. L. Hannah and R. A. McClanahan. This committee will meet next Monday and prepare their report to be submitted at a meeting to be called by the chairman.

A Timely Bit of Advice. In these times of grip and pneumonia it is of great importance that we should know where to look for a safe and sure remedy. A slight cold may become a serious one, the scarcely noticeable pain in the chest is too often the forerunner of pneumonia. The first cough may lead to consumption (a cough is always dangerous). Never neglect a cold or cough for over one day, but get at once, as safe and sure remedy, Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure, which is recommended on all sides. It should be kept in the house regularly, to avoid delay when needed. It is sold at all the drug stores.

A First-Class House. Maryville now has a first-class hotel if reports are true and the meals we have taken there are a sample. Mr. J. H. Magill is one of the most experienced landlords in the country. He has had charge of hotels ever since 1862, and under his management the Jackson House of this place is receiving favorable comment and attaining the reputation of being as good as any hotel in this section. The county should help Mr. Magill in his effort to give Maryville what it so much needs—a good, first-class hotel. When in town on public days and in need of a good dinner call at the Hotel Jackson and see if you don't get a good dinner at a reasonable price.

Winfield, Kas. Mr. Editor.—I am too much interested in the home news the TIMES contains to allow my name to appear with those of delinquents or have the paper stopped for even a week. Enclosed find one dollar on subscription.

My friends and acquaintances will remember me as the shoemaker who used to work for L. Wells. Well, as to my trade, I have not changed. I am still working at my trade. I have a position as repainer in a large boot and shoe house. Have held my place for three years. I do work to the amount of $1,000 a year. Six years ago I was converted, and am today glad to say I have Christ as my personal Saviour.

Mrs. M. joins me in wishing you all a merry Christmas.—Respt., M. B. Milligan.

Twentieth Anniversary. Twenty years ago the 23rd of December, the Woman's Crusade against the saloons began in our country. The Maryville W. C. T. U. found it more convenient to celebrate that event this year two days earlier than the date, that is on December 21st, and invited other ladies to attend the anniversary meeting. The thrilling events of the Crusade were briefly reviewed, confirming anew that it was the conviction of God—not of man, or even of woman. Its development a year later into the W. C. T. U. showed that while the unusual methods of the Crusade had not come to stay, the spirit of the Crusade did then take on a more permanent form. Earnest prayers were offered that this self-denying and never-give-up spirit may be the spirit of our local union. A resolution was passed to take a "square meal" to the Poor House on Dec. 29th, as many of our number as may be, going to see the inmates enjoy the repast.

Mrs. Burger, President of Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary, brought a proposition of her own, to the W. C. T. U. and others assembled, to establish an Industrial Home in Maryville. The Union declared itself in favor of organizing a Woman's Council in our town, and committing this project to its motherly care. This met the approval of all present, and at the close of the meeting of the Union its President still in the chair, a committee was appointed with Mrs. Burger as chairman, to secure if possible the co-operation of every woman's society of every name and nature in Maryville in organizing a woman's council. The effort will doubtless prove successful, and the public will be informed of that success through the columns of the TIMES.

Glee Haw! During the holidays the few students who are left on College Hill have locked up all their books and gone in for a good time. They certainly have succeeded. Among the amusements one of the most thrilling was a ride to Mr. Joe McIlvane's in the ox wagon. This romantic trip was taken last Friday night and Saturday morning. The party assembled at six o'clock and our good driver soon came dashing up with his fiery steeds. All of the party succeeded in finding places after a short scramble for reserved seats and we started. The first event was the coming to a gate and here was a question worthy of consideration. How in the world was that gate to be gotten open? We were packed in too tight to think of any one getting out. At last one of our smaller companions succeeded in crawling through a crack in the bottom of the wagon and opened the gate. He succeeded in getting back into the wagon with the loss of one eye and a severe concussion of the eye brows. The next event was the discovery of the fact that we were a few lines out of the road, but with several hours labor and much wondering to and fro we succeeded in getting in the right track. Nothing more of importance happened on the way out excepting that we turned over in the creek twice and almost fatally injured a large oak tree by running against it. We were there entertained under the hospitable roof of Mr. McIlvane until the time came to start back. We piled in and started and right here was when the fun began for some of our dear fellow students had been so kind and obliging as to build curious looking structures in our path, such as pig pens and other interesting things. The good brothers did this probably to make the scenery more varied and not so monotonous as it was going out. Well they certainly succeeded and the party extend most heart felt thanks to them. The scenery certainly was varied when we came to a barrier that seemed impassable. The boys all got out and stood with their hands in their pockets gazing at the obstruction, and the young ladies began to sing "Merly We Roll Along" but some of them were shedding tears on the sly, then as if matters were not bad enough already it began to rain and then was another scramble to get umbrellas raised. There certainly was a scene. Umbrellas got tangled in young ladies hair and as for hats, well some of them were pretty looking objects when we got home. At last we succeeded in getting back although no one knows exactly how. As to the time it was half past nine when we reached the door of Baldwin Hall or perhaps a little later. It certainly was a great trip and I am sure will always be remembered by all who went especially the oxen.—Clem Wilson.

Mass Convention. The Blount County Mass Convention met at the Court House on New Year's day at 12 o'clock. Dr. John A. Goddard called the convention to order. On motion of W. C. Chumlea Dr. John A. COLLEGE NOTES.

"A Happy New Year" is the complement of the season. Christmas came in the right time of the moon this year, but after Jan. 2d, Oh, how dark—darkness visible! Just eighteen boys in Memorial Hall and five girls in Baldwin Hall were left to make merriment during holidays.

Our old friend, Prof. James R. Burchfield, spent holidays with friends in and around Maryville. He left Monday morning for his work in the school room at Jonesboro.

The following are the names of some of the new students arriving up to Monday morning: Messrs. Emert and Mattox, of Sevier county; Messrs. Sharp and Sexton, of Scott county, and Mr. Mitchell, of Greene county.

Francis Penland has been studying Logic during holidays and reciting out on Penn avenue. He has been dealing with fallacies mostly. We want him to tell whether this is a fallacy or not: "If a young man admires a young lady he is the one to take her to a social; a certain young man does admire a certain young lady; therefore he is the one to take her to the social."

Quite a goodly number of the College boys attended the town Y. M. C. A. the past two Sabbaths. We were pleasantly surprised to find the town association in such neat and comfortable quarters, with reading room well supplied with the best literature of the times. The College Y. M. C. A. extends a hearty New Year's greeting, with best wishes for a good year's work among the young men of our town.

The prospects for the spring term are indeed flattering. During the fall term 260 students were enrolled, the largest number enrolled the first half of the year in the history of the institution. With the present faculty and the equipments for the advantage and comfort of students we cannot fail of a very marked degree of success. Prof. Barnes, the principal of the preparatory school, with his able assistants, Prof. Gill, Miss Henry and Miss Lord, have this department under fine management, and today the best advantages are to be had in Maryville College for the training of under college students. One who had not visited the institution within the past two years would be very agreeably surprised at the great improvement in this department, both as to teaching, buildings and method. The Science department will be noticed in a special article.
